BAROLO CANNUBI DOCG 2018

The Réva 2018 Barolo Cannubi is a powerful wine from a site known for its delicate fruit aromas. This warm vintage brings out the muscle and the brawn in the sandy-soiled Cannubi cru. Dark fruit and blackberry are supplemented with oak spice and tobacco. The finish is dry with dusty tannins.

BAROLO RAVERA DOCG 2017

The 2017 Barolo Ravera displays ripe fruit from a hot vintage with plenty of oaky spice and toast. This full-bodied Barolo is redolent of sweet blackberry preserves and baked cherry with cedar smoke and sweet cinnamon. All of these wines from Réva are heavy-handed when it comes to oak use.

BAROLO LAZZARITO DOCG 2016

Here's a new submission from Réva.

The 2016 Barolo Lazzarito is not a shy or bashful wine. The aromas are direct and powerful with plenty of mature fruit, pressed blackberry, cola, Spanish cedar and campfire ash.

These come rushing from the glass with intensity, and you can expect similar power in terms of mouthfeel.
